My dear [redacted]

Upon receipt of your communication of September 27, 1939, I instructed the Special Agent in Charge of my Philadelphia office, Mr. H. B. Fletcher, to contact you by telephone and explain the Bureau's position at the present time in situations of this kind.

I do want you to know that I am sincerely appreciative of the motives which prompted you to communicate with me and to assure you of my desire to cooperate with you at all times within the limitations of the jurisdiction of the Bureau as created by Congressional enactment.

Sincerely,
